

The CCCM's recent Status of Women Canada-funded project, "Promoting Economic Security and Work-Family Balance for Rural and Northern Women in Manitoba" has been awarded a "Best Practice" by SWC, and will be showcased at the March 2012 meetings of the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women at UN headquarters in New York. While we are honoured by the award, the irony is sharp: the Harper government has eroded progress on childcare in Canada and erased the equality and advocacy mandate that made our project possible
